Don’t miss this deadline: June 30, 2018
To maintain access to IU and IU Health buildings, replace your IU ID with a CrimsonCard before June 30, 2018. After the deadline, your existing card will stop working.

5 STEPS TO GET AND ACTIVATE YOUR CRIMSON CARD

STEP 1
Be prepared: You will need to show your current IU School of Medicine ID/JagTag or another form of identification (i.e., driver’s license, etc.).

Note: A new photo will be taken for your CrimsonCard.

STEP 2
Visit one of these locations:

• CrimsonCard (formerly JagTag) office, IUPUI Campus Center, Room 217
• Informatics & Communications Technology Complex (ICTC), Room 129, 535 W. Michigan St.

At a regional campus? Sit tight, a CAITS representative will coordinate providing new CrimsonCards.

STEP 3
• Tell the representative you need the IU School of Medicine multi-function card* (also called triple-technology card)
• Request the appropriate card layout based on your role (student, faculty, etc.)

*These cards are printed on special card stock to enable access to IU Health facilities.
Who must replace their current ID with a CrimsonCard?
All current IU School of Medicine students, faculty, staff (part time and full time), and affiliates, including residents and fellows, must obtain a CrimsonCard, IU’s new official photo ID card for all campuses.

Keep in mind, this a multi-step process, and it may take more than a day for access to transfer to your new card. Don’t wait until the last minute!
