Road to Accreditation Update - Wednesday, April 26, 2017

Today is the third full day of IU School of Medicine's reaccreditation site visit. The survey team representing the Liaison Committee on Medical Education (LCME) is visiting three regional campuses today-Fort Wayne, Muncie and West Lafayette. The site visit will conclude in Indianapolis tomorrow afternoon.

Following the LCME's standardized process, it will be later this year when IU School of Medicine receives a determination from the LCME regarding the school's reaccreditation status. Until the school hears from the LCME, the significant progress made in the school's Continuous Quality Improvement efforts will advance, with feedback from students continuing to guide this work.
